Notes for DANIEL FRANCIS WALSH:

The house on Dickson Street was a frequent hangout for professional baseball players. They would come over to relax, sing, drink beer and eat Annie's famous bar-b-que pork. Many baseballs signed by Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb and others were passed down through the family. Most if not all are gone. Over time they were faded and illegible.

Owned the "Clubhouse" on the river.

Employed as Chief Bookkeeper in the Office of Richard Koeln Collector of Revenue for the city of St. Louis.
