Notes for CHRISTENA E. BENTLEY:
At the age of eleven, Christena was sent by her father to live with another family and work as their housekeeper to earn money to help support the family. During her teenage years she worked at a hotel in Perry where she polished her cooking skills and learned to make what today is known as potatoe chips. She must have become an excellent cook because it was said that no one could make parker house rolls as good as her. In her last years her eyesight began to fail to the point of near blindness and her granddaughter Dolores helped care for her. Her obituary states she was "possessed with great courage, which brought her through many a heartache and trial".

Notes for JAMES RAMON RICHEY:

Jim attended Jefferson High School where his humorous side was apparent when in his yearbook he was quoted as saying "Work fascinates me. I can sit and look at it for hours". He was a member of the French Horn Quartet and apparently enjoyed it because years later he tried to encourage me to take it up when I was in High School. He exposed me to all kinds of music, from instrumentals like "The Grand Canyon Suite" and "The 1812 Overture" to Glenn Miller and other "Big Bands" and to this day I still enjoy them. When IQ tests were given for the first time, his sister Ramona remembered how he surprised everyone by getting the highest score in the school. After graduating in 1946, he joined the Army and was stationed in the Aleutian Islands. Following an honorable discharge in 1948 he attended Bowles Business College where he received a degree in telegraphy and worked for the railroad a short time. The remainder of his life was spent in the electronics industry, beginning with Square D Company and ending with Rockwell International's Autonetics Division as a quality control source inspector of missile components. He loved fishing and boating, so much so that he built his own cabin cruiser which he kept docked at the Sacramento River. After he moved to South Carolina he eventually bought a place along Lake Greenwood where he could continue to enjoy his love of the outdoors. (by Laurese Richey Herron)
